

Terms of Use

for the Blickle CAD Download Service

We work closely and faithfully with our customers.

Blickle Räder+Rollen GmbH & Co. KG (herein after referred to as 'Blickle') provides CAD files online for its customers. This is to facilitate the use of Blickle castors in the design projects of customers. This Blickle online service is offered freely for the benefit of Blickle customers. Blickle retains the right to determine the specification of all files available for download. Blickle also reserves the right to stop this service in full or in part at any time without giving a reason.

Blickle are the only party able to grant access rights for users. There is no legal claim to this service.

The Data Security Statement complements the following Terms of Use for CAD files provided by Blickle.

- 1. Restriction of Use
The CAD files provided by Blickle remain under the ownership of Blickle.
Only the registered company that has downloaded data may use it. Any circulation of this data (in any form) to third parties is prohibited specifically without written permission of Blickle.
Blickle reserves the right to take legal steps against anyone who infringes this obligation.
- 2. Liability
Blickle hereby disclaims all warranties or liabilities with regard to the accuracy of any downloaded CAD files. Design-related tolerances may occur for some products.
- 3. Modifications
The CAD files provided for download by Blickle are exclusively for the purpose of information and will not be updated regularly. Blickle reserves the right to change these files, make technical changes and delete them at any time without any notice.
- 4. Data storage when downloading CAD files
The download of CAD files is recorded. Blickle may use these records and data for the purpose of customer service. No data will be passed on to any other companies or organisations.

The General Terms and Conditions of Blickle apply.